

Monday with M&Ms Transcripts and Q&A (Machiventa, Clovis, and Father Michael)

A New Normal

Machiventa Melchizedek

TR Mark Rogers

5-26-25

Machiventa: Good morning. This is Machiventa Melchizedek, reporting for duty as you are—by calling this meeting and showing up.

You are here literally at my request, and you honor me in your service of showing up and bringing your energy once again to donate to the circuitry we are building and creating throughout this process. My request has been for you to have such meetings and contact as a necessary component in the evolution of this planetary growth that we are working to facilitate.

We are in the process of reestablishing what you may recognize as the universe broadcast circuits. These circuits, severed long ago due to quarantine, left this world in isolation and spiritual disconnection. As a result, there has been a decline in the ability of individuals to feel connected as spirit beings, having no communication from on high to associate with or look to as an example.

That is precisely why we are here. You have responded to my request to make this connection, to be the mortal counterpart to the spiritual administrators, so that we may once again open the lines of broadcast and communication.

This is a multifaceted task, requiring both individual readiness and environmental conditioning. You have taken the personal steps to prepare your inner environment to receive spiritual frequencies and truths.

Ironically, this is made possible through your Adjuster, the divine fragment within. This is your portal, your gateway, your opening to the spirit dimension—to the component of yourself that is currently housed in your physical body but will continue on through your evolutionary journey in many forms always as an aspect of you that survives.

Our message is twofold. First, we are announcing that circuitries are open, and they can be accessed simply by your request, enabled through the divine gift of your free will.

Now, as ones who have discerned your spirit component and chosen to follow where spirit leads, you are called to show the way—to be the example and normalize this process. It is not magic, nor special, nor reserved for a select few. This is the new normal.

We are evolving to a place where communication—even from on high—may be obtained through various circuitries. The simplest and most direct method remains, as Jesus exemplified, to go apart into the stillness with your divine fragment and seek counsel from within. Your Adjuster is your divine counterpart—your way, your path.

The sooner one recognizes this relationship and affinity, the sooner they can begin to work with it. I urge you to engage actively with your Adjuster. In your prayers and petitions to spirit, you may direct your intentions toward your spirit guide. Ask for direction, assistance, and perspective. Request your Adjuster to make allowances in honor of your desire to experience spiritual growth.

In this way, you enable your Adjuster to customize your spiritual experience according to your status and your capacity to embrace truth. This active request enhances the process. A simple prayer of intention unlocks vast potential. If you are aware enough to ask for help through your divine partner, you will surely receive it.

This is the most powerful personal step anyone on this planet can take. The next phase is to continue engaging with your Adjuster to open channels of communication, through which spiritual truths and principles beyond your current awareness may flow.

All of this offers perspective on what we are doing—what you are doing. You are actively participating with your planetary administration in a progressive way. You have pursued your inner connections enough that now external ones may be formed and established. It all comes down to free will. The circuitries are no longer closed, and the potentials are now greatly expanded.

Our message moving forward is that communication across realms is not only possible—it is the new normal. And you, who show up faithfully for each meeting, represent that truth. You demonstrate it. You manifest it.

You are compiling exchanges, lessons, and insights that will stand as living proof. These teachings are universal. They represent a higher spiritual standard attained by those who actively pursue higher truth—truths found only in spirit.

And here you are: a being of mortal stature yet housing an eternal spirit fragment. You can play both sides of this dynamic. Although mired in the muck of materialism you know that is not your destiny. You are aware that your future is an eternal career of manifesting spiritual truth and principles.

How fortunate we are to be here—at this pivotal moment in time and space—when circuitries are being restored, connections reestablished, and growth abounds. This comes amid great cultural instability and uncertainty. What better time to bring the good news of this new normal?

No longer hidden in shadows or regarded with uncertainty, this way of living will become common, normal, and well documented. Nothing to hide. Nothing to shield. Complete transparency is essential going forward. It is important to understand what is happening, how it is happening, why it is happening, and how best to proceed.

Even more important is how to condition the environment to be more compatible with higher frequencies, to look more divine, to become more perfect.

So, I now yield the floor to others, but I wished to share this perspective of what we are doing—what you are doing—and to express my respect for your presence in answer to our request.

It is through the faith of such ones that we are able to proceed. So be it.

Thank you for your continued dedication to these meetings. They are becoming more and more the norm.

Thank you.

A New Kind of Love

Clovis

TR Delores Pollard

5-26-25

Clovis: Thank you, children of faith, and thank you, my father Machiventa. This mission is a blessing to us.

I am a midwayer and have walked beside you throughout your human evolution on this world. The hearts that reach up in hope, in fear, in distress, and frustration are seen and recognized by us on this side. When you stop and still yourself, within that smooth tension of silence, we can speak—and you can hear us.

It is a process of reaching up and reaching down—a cooperation. Over the years, we have developed quite a skill in tuning to you. It's an adventure to witness the wisps of hope or questions that rise and call to us. It's almost magnetic. When you call, we can answer. When we call, we must wait for you to listen and respond.

More and more of you are giving us the chance to enter your lives and consciousness. And of course, there is increasing spiritual pressure from our side to encourage your response. The waves of love are more subtle and refined than the anger, hatred, and confusion that dominate your world. But as more of you tune within, peace can travel along these links of love.

The truth marches from the light side to where it's needed. The light is drawn to places that are deep, lost, and lonely. Now, with the circuits open, this love-light can flow across your planet—not just through the isolated, determinedly carved openings you've made.

The children reaching up are a blessing to the Father. Those of you from earlier days know the struggle it took to break through the barrier into the light that surrounded you. And now, isn't it an easier ascent to open the mind and heart space with faith? The light comes rushing forth filling your presence with joy. So even if you walk around like a normal human, you are carrying the brightness of your spirit contact. This is infectious to others and their Thought Adjusters.

Different circuits are at work. It's not just a mental reflex. When you open your heart, you connect not only through the gravity circuits of the earth, but also through gravity circuits of the Spirit and of the Father. It's quite a bundle of knots you're tied into, and each one can be trusted, understood, and aligned within your center so you become balanced. And when a balanced person walks the Earth, the energy around them stabilizes.

Think of our beloved Michael—how he must have been while on the earth, the sweet honey of his love vibrating through the ethers. All hearts attuned to joy felt it. Your world was in a terrible state when he came to do his sovereign mission. You may relate this to the current time where there is much fear and repression. In his lifetime there was also much repression. His country was ruled by another. There was civil war, religious strife, and unrest. It was not a pleasant time to be on the planet.

And yet, love chose to come to plant the seeds of light and life, and of loving one another. We were all there watching—midwayers, I mean. My name is Clovis. I was also there, and later I worked with Machiventa on a series of enlightened messages brought through by Mary Strong during World War II. That was also a dark time for hearts, minds, and souls. But because of her courage, we were able to bring messages of strength and hope. Even today, those books live and are passed among hearts who are ready.

To belong to this movement, this rising of the light, calls upon your steadfastness. Humanity is still a flighty creature. We approach and like a wild deer you bounce away. We call, and often you do not hear. But we are here. We offer the hope, the love, and the answers you seek.

It is so precious to us when any of you turn and open yourselves. You who know The Urantia Book are aware of the mansion worlds beyond. Even that knowledge sets you apart. When you have faith in the immortality of Michael's everlasting love, it creates a strong, energetic pull, a vibrating living force that affects life all around. Like attracts like.

Even though you cannot see it, it builds golden threads of thought, encouragement, peace, and beauty. Love is alive. It doesn't sit on a shelf like a trophy. It seeks fellowship, harmony, and creativity. It draws things into perfection.

This is the Paradise plan: to understand that, despite our flaws (yes, even us—we are evolving too), we are growing together. The term "unconditional love" spreads as a blanket over all humanity. The love of the Father is unconditional.

When you seek spirit, when you long for the higher view, your mind rises above the everyday clamor. You begin to feel certainty and trust. Your faith grows in your ability to connect—to commune with, understand, and feel the Father within.

When you place your hope in the light of love, that's when harmony begins to unfold in your world. Making unconditional love normal is the goal. There are many stumbling blocks between now and then, but one day you will understand what it means that the circuits have opened.

You are standing in that truth now, even if you don't fully understand it. This is our challenge—we need you to help us connect to your planet, to your hearts, your minds, and to normalize this contact with the teeming universe just beyond your vision, just beyond your hearing—in higher vibrational planes.

When your heart becomes still, it can reflect both within and without. Carry this stillness with you. Listen. When you invite us into your life, test us. Ask us questions. Give us your problems, and together we can grow—happier, richer in love.

It may seem a huge task. But each small choice for kindness, generosity, or any fruit of the Spirit brings it closer. These are easiest to manifest when you're aligned with your spirit. And since all is one, it takes only one alignment to be there.

You don't need to align with many spirits. Spirit is one. When you connect with your spirit, and another does the same, it is the one connecting to itself.

Give it time. In your quiet times, in your prayers, this energy accrues in your heart. It brings you the peace you crave. Carry that peace within you—and then begin to imagine it for the whole world.

When this becomes normal, a new kind of love will flourish in your world. We are bringing this new kind of love—a love that allows you to relax in the presence of spirit, both within and without.

When you feel safe—no matter what happens externally—because you are right with your spirit, you are living in trust. As humans, you live in small bubbles of habit, expectation, work, play, and sleep. Everyone lives within one.

But bubbles in water rise. When your bubble lightens, you rise. When it reaches the surface, it bursts—and you become one in the Spirit of the Father. This is the Paradise plan in a nutshell.

There are many analogies that could be made using gardens, nuts, trees, roots, flowers, and water. But this image is so vast that I cannot explain what I am seeing of how we fit into Father's plan for life. But we can rest in the assurance that we are in his hands and that life is good.

This darkness shall pass. The new life we are now birthing is inevitable in the Father's will. Light and life is the goal from where you are now. And we thank you for participating in it. We are grateful you are here. So, listen for us—and we will speak. Thank you for your time.

Q&A

Bea: A lot of this information that you have given me I know intellectually, and I am working on making it come alive in my life. Do you have any advice or comments for people who are struggling to actually live their beliefs?

Machiventa: I'm happy to entertain your questions.

The short answer to “how” is simply to try. Try again. Practice makes perfect. The only way to improve is to go through the motions, navigating the obstacles, uncertainties, and doubts that arise along the way. The key is in your faithful effort to keep going.

Try again and once more pray in gratitude. Once more, assert your desire to be informed, assisted, and guided. This process is a daily one—sometimes even hourly—as each free will choice presents a fresh opportunity to begin again.

Try again in relation to your current habits. Seek guidance and notice how your approach might need modification. Assess your environment. Identify where there may be interference—what you might call a “disturbance in the force”—and consider what can be done to mitigate it.

But remember, it's all done one step at a time, one day at a time, one attempt at a time. If you are faithful, diligent, and willing to try again and again, you will eventually hit your target.

There may be missed attempts, but each one holds the potential to teach you something. Every sincere attempt, guided by your intention and faith, brings with it new awareness and perspective. This is essential for building wisdom.

You may find that your efforts require refinement over time. Circumstances may demand change. That's part of the challenge—how to manifest spiritual truths in ways that are relevant and applicable to the present moment.

Repetition is key: go to the well of stillness. Condition your inner environment to make yourself receptive—to connect first and foremost with your inner guide. Through that connection, all others are secured.

So, my advice is: never consider any sincere application of your belief as irrelevant, incorrect, or false. Every effort you make—by will and desire—is successful in some way. It brings you the awareness and understanding necessary to grow in wisdom.

True certainty doesn't come from predictable outcomes. It comes from a reliable process—of working hand-in-hand with spirit, of being engaged in that relationship.

And now, I will turn over the floor. Michael would like to access this gift of a forum you provide. So be it.

The Grand Gift of Connection and Service

Michael

TR Mark Rogers

5-26-25

Michael: So be it—so be it, indeed—as a result of your manifestations, your intentions, your faith in me, in this process, and in your Divine Parents.

I accept this grand gift that you give to me and to the celestial administration. In demonstrating your intention to work with us from your side to facilitate this contact, you offer something of great value. Even now, this connection is a profound gift to me and to those on our side, who now have access and opportunity to draw near.

I thank you and express my love and gratitude for your service in this capacity.

It is not for you to fully know, in this life, the significance of your efforts. Much of what is accomplished remains hidden or unnoticed, discovered slowly, and not often in the forefront. Yet, your willingness to keep this channel open for our use is deeply instrumental and vital to this process.

How else could I approach you and ask you directly to follow me? You have made this possible, and I am eternally grateful to all who have helped create this reality—this opportunity that allows us to work together, to know one another, to form relationships, even friendships.

You are unaware of how significant and special this turn of events truly is. The fact that we now find ourselves here, working together, and that I may be as close to you as to offer my appreciation and thanks, is remarkable.

I come to you in gratitude. You have become aware of my presence, my energy signature, and I have come to know yours. Together, we now form a relationship. We know each other with certainty.

I have committed to return to this beloved world of my bestowal. And now, such a return is happening through each and every one of you. I return within you. I return as your guide within, should you invite me to dwell there.

You see, while you are fortunate enough to hear my words addressed directly to you, most of my children will not have this intimate contact. But you, who have, may represent me. You may be my hands, my voice.

You who have followed me to this point are now asked to represent me in your realm, in your dimension of existence, in your temporary circumstance, which you already know you are destined to outgrow and transform into something greater.

I welcome you to accept my offer: follow me, portray me, represent me—because you have found me, because you know me. We have a relationship, formed by your commitment to these exchanges.

I cannot thank you enough. Instead, I place my trust and faith in you—to continue moving forward with this magnificent process, and to help share messages such as this.

Go in peace. Go with my love, which I grant you even now. Go forward with your heart full of anticipation for a grand influx of love.

All will be made right by the light of love that will permeate. And you are the anchors of that light, the ones who prepare the environment and condition the receivers, so that such an exchange may become compatible and real.

Thank you for all that you do in this process. I receive your gestures of service with great love. Carry that love with you and share it as I desire—and as you desire.

So let it be. Moving forward, according to your dedication, there will be future opportunities for us to meet again.

Thank you—and farewell.