

Machiventa From Intention to Manifestation: Claiming Your Divine Inheritance

TR Mark Rogers

March 19, 2026

Opening:

Welcome back into this classroom, this classroom of our joint creation. You have been returning to this place, this classroom for some time, always seeking my guidance, my reassurance, my dedication just as you have shown yours. And we together have co-created this environment you refer to, this safe place, this place of spirit connection and this place of great worship. When we get together we are elevated by our intention to be together. As you know, wherever two or more are gathered, Michael is always there and this classroom has been well attended by many like Michael, Mother Spirit, Abraham and Monjoranson, all in attendance at times and all because of your intentions and your desire which completes the circuit and makes it so.

Lesson:

None of this would have transpired without that vital component of which you have spoken this evening. Intention is the driving force. Sincere intention is the unstoppable force. This is an element of your co-creative capacities, your endowment from your Creator to be like Them. To be a creator, to act in love, to focus your intention with divine purpose and then creation happens. It cannot be otherwise. If your desires are in alignment with those of your Divine Parents, then your wish is the universe's command. Your intention stated must be addressed, must be honored as a creative son or daughter of Divine Parents. It is a simple matter. It is within your jurisdiction. It is your destiny. It is part of your composite being currently partly material and largely spirit with which you are learning to act and communicate and coordinate and envision and express your intention in terms of spirit growth.

That is where it happens. It also happens from that material component of yourself where intention expressed may create anything you can imagine from a book to a building to another mortal human being. That's how powerful your intention is. You can create materially with a thought, a word, and a deed. That's how powerful you are spiritually. You can also create with the same pattern of creation, the visioning of what it is you would create, then the expression to the universe of your intentions and then to follow through with your faith that it will be so, and it shall. It cannot be otherwise. As long as you are in alignment with a higher divine source, higher values and meanings, then at your request, another intention manifests.

You have little idea of the power you possess by simply manifesting your destiny and becoming a creative son or daughter in the universe as per your parents who have created you in their image. It seems so simple and basic but many times mortals of the realm cannot fathom this endowment and the responsibility of such power or the magnitude of such association with divinity. But I assure you, this is the plan. This is the journey you're on - to discover your association to divinity, to realize your capacities to create truth, beauty, and goodness, to focus your intention to bring these things to life and then to manifest these intentions because you can.

So I hereby congratulate you for having attended so many of these classes that you are now comfortable in your efforts in the spirit dimension and that they are as real if not more so than any intentions you may have on the mortal plane for material things. Your spirit is far more powerful than the restraints of anything, mortal or material, far more destined to greatness than can ever be achieved in mortal stature. You have found this connection, you have put these pieces of the puzzle together and it is a joy to behold your expansion of capacity. Your skills are being honed at working in spirit, as spirit, with spirit. This is nothing short of miraculous at this phase and stage of your evolution and growth.

While still in mortal stature you are discovering that this is but a stage and phase to gain experience and to find your true dimensions of unlimited spirit capacity and to wield your co-creative powers for the glory of our Divine Parents and in gratitude for the very life that you have been given to experience, this eternal career before you. And all this at your very first beginnings of flesh and blood and breath. All this is becoming yours for the taking before you've had to go to a morontia transitional stage where such an introduction to your spirit self normally occurs. But you, through your acts of faith are here in this classroom of our creating, finding these truths while still in mortal form.

I congratulate you all and consider that you have well earned the title of spiritual ambassadors, the ones who know whereof they speak when communicating about the realities of spirit, the truths, the goodness, and the beauty to be found in the spiritual pursuit and the joy at having found it. Once you have found it, there is no more uncertainty, no more doubts, no more wonders of your worth, of your value or of the significance of your being. You are a piece of the gigantic puzzle of the whole and essential to completing the picture as all the parts return and reassemble with all of the experience that has been gathered to make for a complete picture of all that is, from all the fragments who have personally experienced the many different dimensions of the same reality of spirit existence.

I'm grateful for your steadfast participation as you are grateful for mine, and I assure you we have just begun, that the doors now have opened and that such a class as this may be expanded to the next phase as you already know, even prior to your morontia exposure. It is as you so desire and as you intend. Avail yourselves of the use of your intention. It is a superpower indeed. It is sanctioned on high by your Creator Parents who have made you in their image. Let it be so as we move forward. Keep your intention focused in the direction of your Divine Parents and your journey is most certainly guaranteed successful. The universe must respond to your intention to find your Divine Parents and to be like them. And so it will.

Only this thing you refer to as time intervenes in the process, but only here on this plane is it so restrictive. If you can do this in such a restrictive environment as this, you are bound to accelerate enormously when freed from the restrictions of your mortal limitations. This too is your design that awaits you but here and now is where all future is determined. Your intentions and your choices point you in the direction of your desire for growth and I invite you to keep focused on the path you are on that has brought you here. This path will lead you to an eternal career and now you know, you have friends, you have assistance, you have guidance, you are cherished and you shall be rewarded for all of your efforts. It cannot be otherwise.

Be in great joy to be in a place where you can hear these words and I can bring them to you because of our intentions. It cannot be otherwise. Farewell and be in great joy for the steps you have taken and the distance you have made in even being here. Bless you and we will return to our co-created classroom where all things are possible in spirit. I am Looking forward to our next visit. Farewell.
