

Machiventa Forging Great Souls for Light and Life

TR John Morris

12-8-25

Opening:

Thank you, my children. Thank you for your invitation and for your perseverance in maintaining this space, maintaining this circuit, this line of connection from the celestial and spirit realms down to the physical plane of Mother Earth, Gaia, whose children you also are.

Lesson:

Every human life, every human thought, Mother Earth records and keeps. In this time of travail for your Earth Mother, when materialism and greed have disfigured her and created blemishes upon her face, she is greatly heartened by the evolution of this human experiment. When she sees ones such as yourselves persevering—continuing to gather and to bring this light of spirit down into the physical realm—she is greatly encouraged. Now she knows, without a doubt, that as long as you persevere, she will be redeemed and this world will be redeemed. This world will fulfill the destiny for which it was originally created, when the Father and His Son Michael brought this world into being.

There are many metaphors that could be used to describe your journey such as the acorn and the mighty oak. The Urantia Book uses the metaphor the anvil and the hammer. So, look back over the last several years and try to see where you are in the process. Consider what it takes to make fine steel, as sharp as a razor, for the work ahead. Are you the iron ore still in the ground? Are you the ingot in the red-hot coals, suffering the blows of the master craftsman—being pounded, being worked on the anvil? Are you on the bench as is your edge sharpened to razor thinness? Or are you already in the hand of the spiritual warriors, Christ Michael, Machiventa and his staff, ready to be wielded in the battle for light and life?

No matter where you are in the process—no matter what you are suffering or enjoying—this experience of forging great souls to the glory of the Almighty Supreme and in this age of supremacy, is a mighty contribution. There will come a time in your Paradise ascension career when you will witness the Grand Universe settled in light and life. You will witness the emergence of God the Supreme, coming forth from all potentials into the actualization of supremacy. This is a journey that often finds you between the hammer and the anvil, for great souls are being forged here, and you are among them.

You cannot yet see the energy you generate, nor the magnitude of how that energy is multiplied when you gather together. Did not our Master say, “When two or more are gathered together in my name, I am there”? You may feel disappointed by small numbers or unrealized expectations, by measuring success through material standards of your society and culture. That is not how we measure success.

The Urantia Book paints a vast cosmology—of a universe, a multiverse, a nearly infinite creation teeming with intelligent life, spirit life. Many worlds followed normal patterns of development, and though they contained plenty of difficulties for growth, very few present the opportunities that this one does: a decimal planet, an experimental world, where much latitude was granted in designing, and one that also suffered the ravages of rebellion. Even your text tells you that the good already outweighs the evil that was experienced. As you present yourselves as probationary immortal souls and cosmic citizens, many observe your progress with awe and amazement—how you persevere in the light despite the depths of darkness and depravity this world has endured.

By the strength of your faith and the unending ministry of the Thought Adjusters you possess, you are managing to rise from darkness and respond to the light. In doing so, you become beacons—visible not only to your peers, but to many across your system, constellation, universe, and beyond.

Do not think your struggles mean nothing. They mean everything. What you accomplish here encourages others on normal worlds to persevere, knowing that they too possess this great potential, knowing that if you can do this, here on this world, then so can they.

You cannot yet see this from your perspective but know that you are real encouragement to your brothers and sisters throughout Nebadon. Your true achievements will not be fully realized until you are well along the morontia ascent, preparing for citizenship on Jerusem. One day you will look back and be amazed.

You are now in the heat of transition. When the spiritual quarantine ended, the circuits could not be reconnected all at once. It would have fried this world, and the people on it because humanity did not yet have the capacity. These lines of spiritual communication are being restored gradually, their frequency slowly increasing as humanity develops the ability to receive.

Simply by gathering in this way, you allow a higher frequency to be dialed into the spiritual energies reconnecting to this world. The spiritual drawing power of the Son and of the Father can then safely create an environment that makes it easier for others to connect with their own inner spirit and their unspoken longing for love, peace, and fulfillment. This is how your world will change. Institutions built on the low frequency of rebellion are decaying. What you see now is the budding of seeds planted through the Teaching Mission and the Urantia Revelation. Sprouts are just beneath the surface, close to breaking through. When they open fully to the light of the First Source and Center, change will come more quickly than you can imagine. You are among those seeds—planted decades ago, nurtured and cared for—still full of potential. Each of you is important.

Do not give in to disappointment or discouragement. You have not failed and will never fail unless you quit—unless you refuse to carry on and live at the edge of an incredible transformation, one unprecedented in the history of creation.

We are here because we chose to be here. Remember that your lives are held sacrosanct by the First Source and Center. Nothing can change that. You will always find the energy you need to carry on.

I encourage you. On behalf of my administration and Christ Michael, I thank you for what you do and for what we know you will continue to do. We trust you. We can count on you. You will be given more responsibility because we know you will not fail.

Thank you.
