Dear Sirs:

I am contacting you to offer you my CV with my personal and professional details and other information of interest, in case you need to fill, now or in the near future, the position that you consider for the skills that I present to you in my CV.

I would be interested in working for your company because it is a corporation with a lot of support from a large number of people and with growth prospects. My candidacy may be of interest to you because I know the world of application development and I am like a fish in water when it comes to creating and innovating, that is, I am the appropriate candidate. I know that, as you can see in the attached history, I have already worked professionally as a developer specialized in guarantees. I am willing to continue learning and I can contribute new ideas and strengths to the company.

You can contact me on my mobile phone (562 200 6574) at any time, if possible and if it does not cause any inconvenience, I would like to request an interview in Spanish to make your perspective of me more fluid and effective. I hope to hear from you soon about my candidacy and about the possibilities of working in your company, through a personal interview.

I am at your complete disposal, awaiting your news.

Kind regards.

Signed: Jose Luis Ramirez
