

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Andrew Liberman, who has served as an English teacher at our online school since September 20, 2018. Over the course of his six-plus years with us, Andrew has consistently demonstrated exceptional dedication, professionalism, and expertise in both teaching and educational content development.

Andrew has worked with a wide range of students—from young learners as young as five years old to adult professionals—providing high-quality instruction in General English as well as targeted preparation for standardized tests such as IELTS and TOEFL. His lessons are not only well-structured and engaging but also tailored to the individual needs and goals of each student.

In addition to his teaching responsibilities, Andrew played a key role in designing and developing a learning management system based on Notion. He created original content, structured digital classrooms, and optimized resources to enhance the overall learning experience. His contributions in this area reflect his ability to think beyond the virtual classroom and improve learning outcomes on a broader scale.

Colleagues and students alike appreciate Andrew for his reliability, punctuality, loyalty, and clear communication. He brings strong organizational skills to every project, and his work is always marked by attention to detail and a commitment to excellence. He is particularly skilled at maintaining engagement in online settings through the thoughtful use of digital tools and interactive techniques.

Andrew has also shown initiative in developing lesson plans and personalized curricula for individual students. His ability to collaborate effectively, maintain positive professional relationships, and contribute constructively to our team has made him a valued and respected member of our teaching staff.

We are confident that Andrew will be a tremendous asset in any future role as an ESL teacher, instructional designer, or learning experience designer. His blend of teaching experience, technical skills, and dedication to student success makes him exceptionally well-suited for innovative, learner-centered environments.

Please feel free to contact us should you require any further information.

Sincerely,

Wang Yu

Supervisor

tutor@seerenglish.org

12896819036