A concierge security program for corporate leaders

Personal security isn't just for celebrities and heads of state anymore. Today's executives are under increasing online and physical threat.

70% of attacks on executives happen outside the office, so Ironwall extends security to protect their families and their homes.

How Ironwall protects your C-suite:

1

Prevention

Make your executives unreachable so they can't be targeted

- Erase personal data: Remove home addresses, phone numbers, and family details from every corner of the searchable web.
- Secure every device: Detect and eliminate vulnerabilities across personal devices to block unauthorized access.
- Protect private information: Encrypt, erase, and block tracking of sensitive data with enhanced privacy and security tools.

2

Monitoring

See danger coming before it strikes

- Risk assessments: Identify and address vulnerabilities that could be putting executives at risk.
- Early threat detection: Track warning signs during public events or periods of heightened visibility.
- Active threat surveillance: Monitor suspicious individuals and online activity that indicates potential or rising risk.

3

Response

Contain active threats and receive rapid emergency support

- Neutralize active threats: Our privacy and security specialists remove exposed data and engage directly to defuse hostile activity.
- Coordinate with law enforcement: Ensure threats are taken seriously and emergency responses are swift, including requests for added protection.
- Plan and prepare: Receive up to two hours of consultations with former federal law enforcement personnel to strengthen personal security and contingency plans.
