Your finances in one place

From checking accounts to savings, credit cards, and more, personal finances can be tricky. Blink's mission is to make it simple to manage everything from one place.

Your finances anywhere

We're dedicated into making banking truly mobile. No matter where you are, or what device you're using, we guarantee Blink will give you a snapshot into your financial health anytime, anywhere.

Easily track expense data

Unlike other finance apps, we're all about categorizing your financial data into meaningful and easily comprehensible charts and tables. We won't leave you guessing.

What do they say?

I've used all of the personal finance apps on the market, and found that most have a hard time syncing my various bank accounts and cards real-time, leaving me guessing sometimes for days. Blink was a pleasant surprise! The team has really worked hard to ensure instant synchronization with most of the mainstream banks and lenders. Impressed!

- Anna Jenkins

I rely on my budgeting spreadsheet since it helps me organize my spending data into meaningful charts and tables. That's why I've been comprehensive about switching to a personal finance app, as I found that the data presentation was usually lacking at best. Lo and behold, Blink was the only app that made the cut!
