HOLIDAY HOUSE BY KASHUBIAN LAKE

A lakeside holiday home designed by Jan Sikora is a comfortable retreat – a second home.
I have created a complete space, fully ready for arrival.

From selecting a unique location surrounded by nature, through thoughtful landscaping with a sauna and hot tub, to the house itself, and finally interiors finished to a high standard.

Just over an hour from the Tricity.
Situated in an exceptional location – surrounded by the Wdzydze Landscape Park, lakes, nature, and a peaceful, intimate setting.
Silence and tranquility.
Plot size: 1000 m².

A place to read a book, spend time with family and friends.
Swim in the lake, go kayaking, or forage for mushrooms.

The house features a unique open-plan ground floor.
A spacious living room with large, 4-meter sliding doors opening onto the garden.

It is equipped with remote-controlled heating – you can turn it on with a single click before arrival.

Starlink internet provides modern, high-speed connectivity, and the property is secured with monitoring and an alarm system.
Every detail has been carefully designed.

This home is the result of over 10 years of our experience in creating and living in the Kashubian region.

Outside, there is a sauna and a hot tub.
Additionally, a spacious utility building offers storage for tools and equipment.

The house features triple-glazed windows, solid masonry construction, and a wooden façade made of Scandinavian timber.
The terraces are finished with thermally modified wood.

Surrounding the house is a green garden with lighting and a designated fire pit area.

the creator of the house

Jan Sikora – founder of SIKORA Creative Architecture and a professor at the Academy of Fine Arts in Gdańsk.

In 2025, he was awarded the title of Best Polish Interior Designer. He is also the author of a doctoral thesis on cultural landscape in architecture.

A member of the Association of Polish Architects and a recipient of the Polityka Architectural Award.

For over a decade, he has been deeply in love with the Kashubian region – this is where his lakeside home is located, where he finds rest, inspiration, and beauty. He understands perfectly why having a second home surrounded by nature is so valuable.

For more than 10 years, Jan Sikora and his team have been creating homes in Kashubia for those seeking their own retreat near the Tricity – close to lakes, in a peaceful and intimate setting, away from the city.

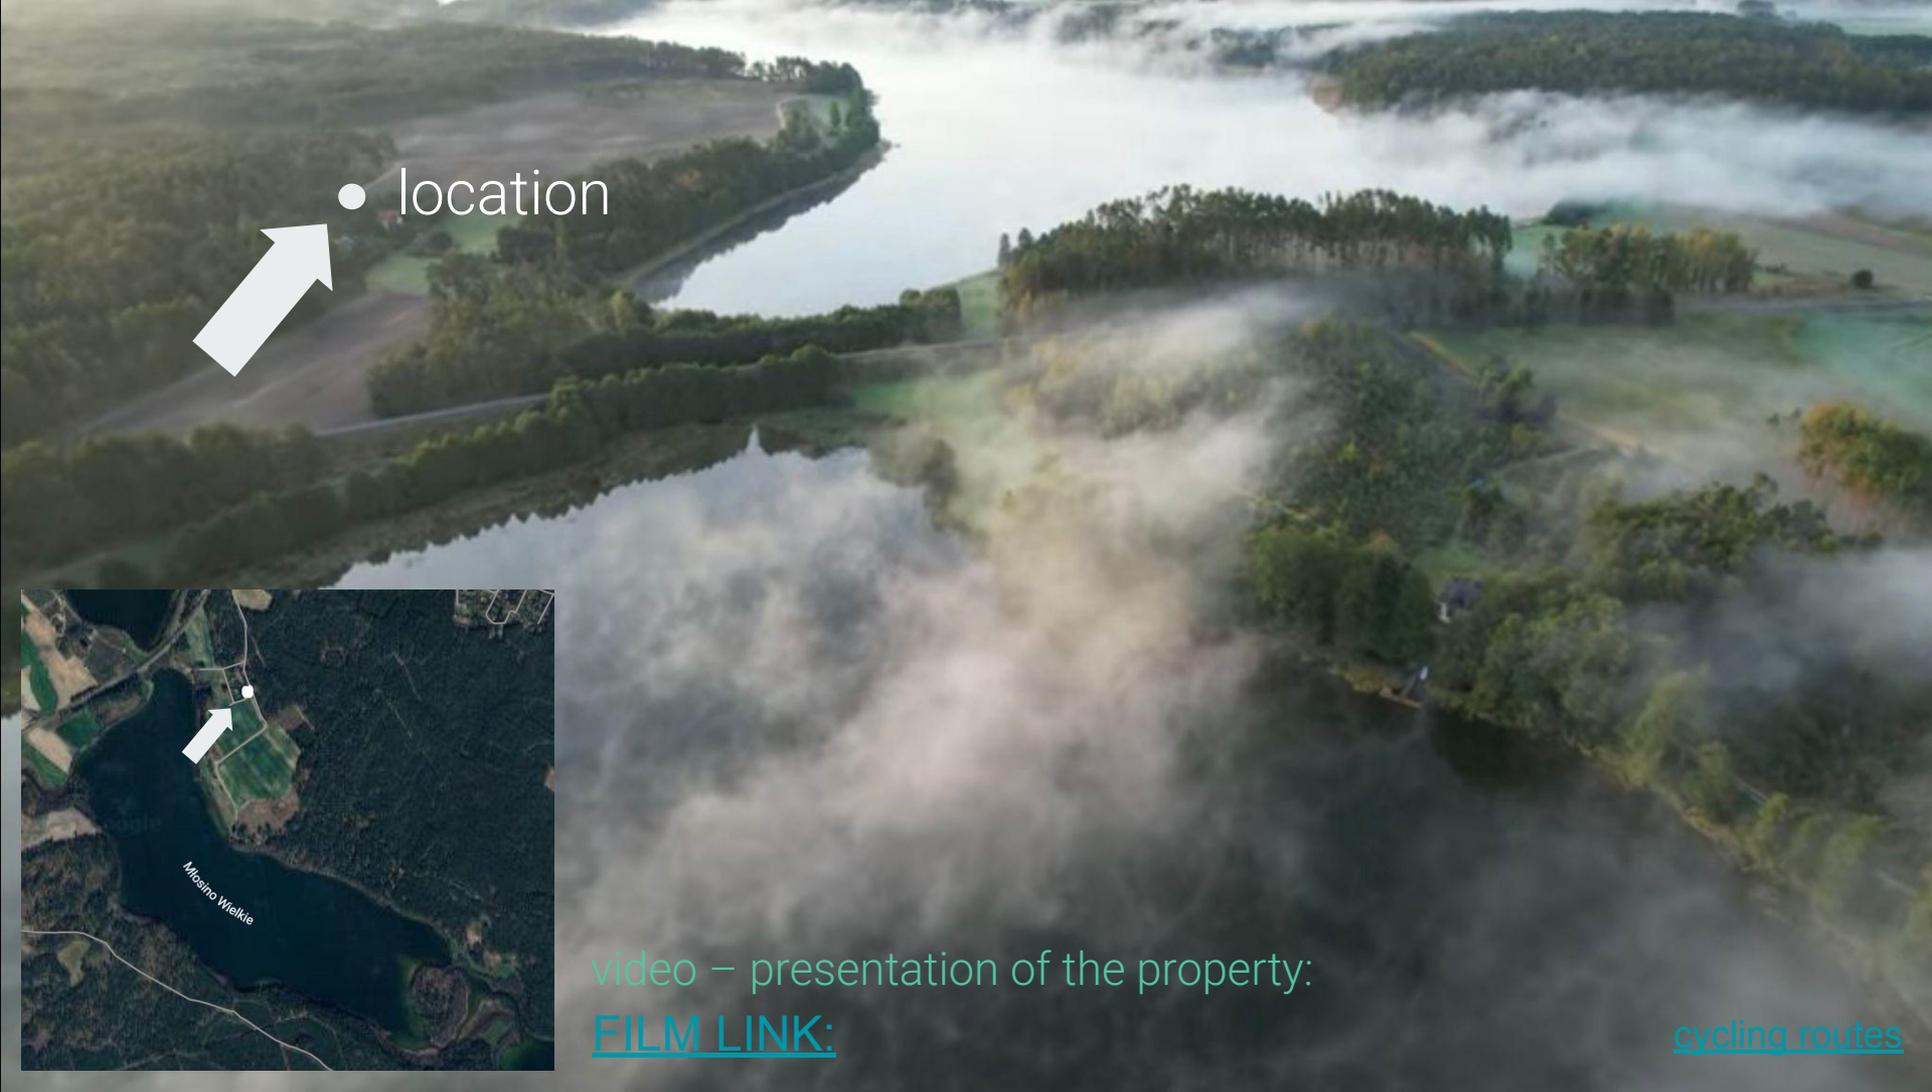

These are truly unique homes: designed and built turnkey. The process begins with finding exceptional and beautiful locations – and then bringing them to life.

Turnkey means everything is taken care of: the house, the garden, and stylish interior design.

130 m do jeziora

A photograph of a dense forest of tall, thin pine trees. The scene is captured during sunrise or sunset, with a bright sunburst effect breaking through the trees in the center. The ground is covered with dry, golden-brown grass and patches of green moss. In the foreground, there are several small, young pine trees. The overall atmosphere is misty and serene.

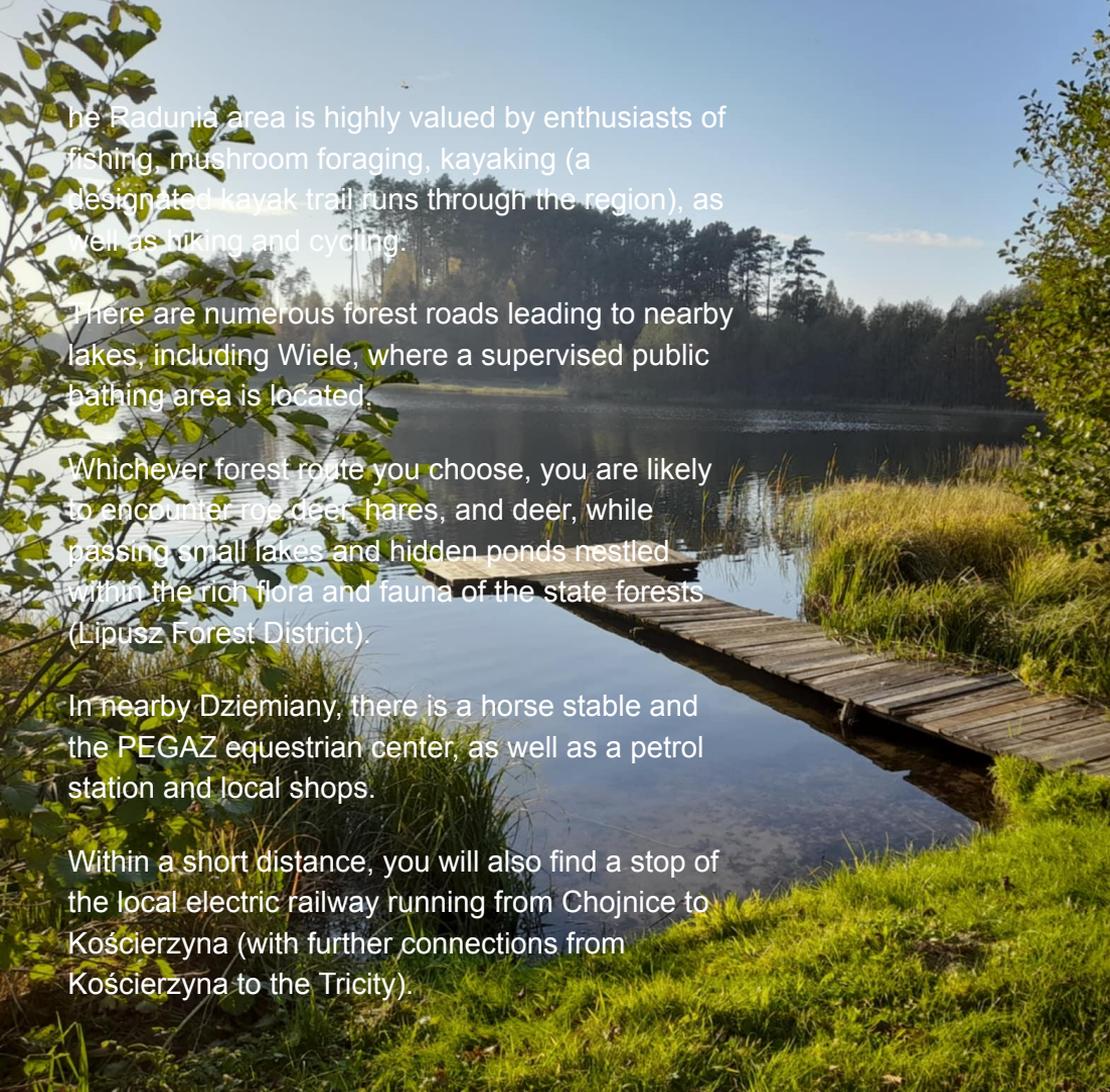

This place is just 10 meters from the house, right behind the fence.

The Radunia area is highly valued by enthusiasts of fishing, mushroom foraging, kayaking (a designated kayak trail runs through the region), as well as hiking and cycling.

There are numerous forest roads leading to nearby lakes, including Wiele, where a supervised public bathing area is located.

Whichever forest route you choose, you are likely to encounter foxes, hares, and deer, while passing small lakes and hidden ponds nestled within the rich flora and fauna of the state forests (Lipusz Forest District).

In nearby Dziemiany, there is a horse stable and the PEGAZ equestrian center, as well as a petrol station and local shops.

Within a short distance, you will also find a stop of the local electric railway running from Chojnice to Kościerzyna (with further connections from Kościerzyna to the Tricity).
