General Background

Debbie qualified as a Registered Adult Nurse in 2009 and currently works as Advanced Nurse Practitioner (ANP) in a surgical emergency assessment unit. She has extensive senior experience within clinical, managerial, and leadership roles within Acute NHS Trusts, spanning Critical and High Dependency settings, Acute Ward environments and Same Day Emergency Assessment units.

Her roles have provided her with significant exposure to patients from a range of specialisms (including medical, orthopaedic, general surgery, colorectal, urology, cardiology and gynaecology) requiring single and multi-level organ support and/or post operative management in critical and high dependency settings, further, she has worked as part of the emergency medical response team attending to urgent calls for patients outside of critical care. In addition, she has led and managed the care of acutely ill and post-operative ward level patients within the general surgical, colorectal, urology, orthopaedic and medical specialities, Currently, as an ANP she consults with patients referred from GP's, NHS 111, and the emergency department presenting with acute surgical complaints, arranging and interpreting investigations and diagnostics, and formulating ongoing management plans.

Debbies leadership tenures have extended her accountability towards governance and regulatory compliance, the inclusive leadership, professional standards, and accountability of large teams, and assurance relating to patient safety, quality, experience.
