Trainee Advanced Clinical Practitioner – General Surgery
Bachelor of Nursing (Adult) (HONS), RN, NMP

General Background

Elena has been a registered nurse since 2013. She has worked in secondary care as a dedicated and skilled general surgery nurse in several clinical roles. As a result, this has provided a comprehensive understanding of the complexities of the patient journey pre- and post-operatively.

Elena is currently working as a trainee advanced clinical practitioner in a surgical same day emergency care unit while she is working towards completing her Master's degree in Advanced Clinical Practice. She is responsible for carrying out detailed clinical assessments (including medical history and physical examination), arranging diagnostic investigations and implementing treatments as appropriate. She works to the NHS England national framework for advanced clinical practice which also integrates education, leadership and research into her daily clinical role in order to maintain the delivery of high quality and safe care.
