

*“Because families come in many forms
some with small hands, some with paws,
some with silence, some with stories.”*

— YUGENZO —

Also discover YUGENZO SOIRÉE
a dinner ritual for quiet connection.

YUGENZO

WELCOME TO MISSION

A ritual for slowing down and tuning in.

“You’re not just opening a box. You’re starting a shared rhythm.”

Scan to access this guide in your language:
Español · Français · Italiano · Deutsch

HAIKU MOBILE

A mobile you create with your own hands.

Inside, you'll find:

- A natural branch
- Four pieces of Japanese-style origami paper (15×15 cm):
three cranes and one lotus
- Two wool felt beads
- A cotton string to hang
- Wooden ball
- Hanging hook

Fold. Tie. Hang.

Place it near a window. Let it move gently — or not.

What matters is the space it opens.

Curiosity is welcome. If your cat engages more actively, observe together to ensure safe interaction.

Encourages calm observation, visual curiosity and shared intention.

TRUST & OBSERVE CUPS

Two porcelain cups, handmade in Spain by a century-old workshop.

Includes:

- 1 wool play ball to spark natural hunting instinct

You can also:

- Add a scented cloth (your smell)
- Tap gently to introduce sound
- Move the cups around daily
- Place them on a soft surface — a mat, a cloth, or thick paper —
to let them move safely

THE CARDS

Instead of a guide, you'll find a set of editorial cards:

- Blue for Trust & Observe
- Ivory for the Haiku

Each one offers a sentence, an idea, or a shared pause.

They're not rules. They're invitations.

Practical prompts that foster focus, presence and sensory activation.

MOAI PASS

Not a reward. A reminder.

Write your names. Add a photo. Note the date.

Then fold it — and let it wait until the next moment that matters.

A small ritual to frame a shared experience.

THE BOX

This isn't just packaging.

It's a ritual case. A drawer for quiet tools.

Use it to store the elements, the cards, the memories.

Attention is a form of care.

This isn't about tricks.

It's about mutual attention and sensory play — which strengthens emotional bonds.

The wool ball is designed for supervised play. As with any small object, observe to ensure safe use.

Stimulates intelligence, scent work, emotional confidence and connection.