I'm really happy about my first real class with 山口先生.

The class was very well balanced. For everything we covered, we did some practice. We also did some revision, which is very important.

Also, 山口先生 answered all the questions that I had before class and that I got during the class. She was able to explain more complex things in several different ways when I was struggling a bit.

For an hour long class, I'm very happy with the amount of material that we were able to cover.

The last but not least, I think 山口先生 has a great personality, which helps a lot. She's very cheerful, positive and supportive. She created a friendly and productive atmosphere in the class.

ありがとうございました for the class))

About half a year ago I started taking lessons with Yamaguchi Sensei to improve my speaking skills and increase the efficiency of my Japanese learning in general.

Yamaguchi Sensei is a professional, competent, and very welcoming person who manages to create a comfortable atmosphere. She adapts to my learning rhythm and my individual language strengths and weaknesses, so that every lesson is tailored to my needs. Lesson content is dynamic and evolves over time so that each lesson has a similar structure, but the content adapts to the needs of the student. She is fun to talk to and is always well prepared for each class.

Now, after taking a few lessons, I can say that I feel a lot more confident when speaking Japanese, and my ability to speak has generally developed well.

Personally, I don't have to look around for another teacher and can really recommend Yamaguchi Sensei to everyone.

今までありがとうございます！次のレッスンが楽しみです。

Der Japanischunterricht ist ein echtes Highlight in meiner Woche. Mit viel Fachwissen und einer sympathischen Persönlichkeit schafft sie es, die japanische Sprache lebendig und verständlich zu vermitteln. Besonders schätze ich ihre individuelle Förderung und die vielseitigen Übungen.

Am liebsten würde ich jeden Tag Unterricht bei ihr nehmen, leider erlaubt dies mein Budget aktuell nicht. Angesichts der ausgezeichneten Unterrichtsqualität ist der Preis auf italki sehr fair.

I have been taking Japanese lessons with Saeko-sensei for over a year now and I highly recommend her lessons. I have to admit that Saeko-sensei is always better prepared for our lessons than I am. Her tailor-made approach makes lessons highly relevant to my own personal situation. I've chosen the Genki path as a backbone for my learning and Saeko-sensei always complements it by the necessary additional material. Saeko-sensei is always very responsive to any additional requests and questions modifying the learning path to suit my needs. Lessons have a clear structure and moreover there is a bridge from one lesson to another through a review of the main points covered in the previous lesson. Thank you!

I've had two 30-minute lessons with Saeko-sensei, and both have been incredibly helpful for my speaking practice. She has taught me practical tactics to improve my pronunciation. Her sessions are simple yet effective in developing my Japanese "muscles."

Each lesson has given me a clear understanding of my problem areas, allowing me to focus on what is important. Her English is excellent, so she has great insight into how English speakers can correct mistakes and refine their pronunciation.

I highly recommend her to anyone looking for a structured yet approachable way to improve their Japanese speaking, reading, and writing!

As always a great lesson with Saeko-san. Those are the most professional classes i had with any teacher so far. She is always prepared for the class, and knows how to guide me through the topics. She stays calm even after i interrupt her multiple times with my (unsuccessful) attempts to correct myself and supports me to find the correct expressions/words.

I also like the approach that we mostly talk with guardrails like a theme, a specific grammarpoint, and a small range of vocab. With that i can prepare myself and also be confident enough to talk as much as i can.

I also really like the usage of those small whiteboards. They help quite a lot to understand and remember the grammar/vocab and so on.

Overall a great experience and i'm looking forward to the next lesson.

I've been taking lessons with Yamaguchi-sensei for almost a year now and she has had a great impact on my confidence in understanding Japanese. I deeply appreciate how flexible Yamaguchi-sensei has been in adapting to what my goals are. While I started on the Marugoto curriculum, she was happy to switch to Q&A- and free conversation-based sessions, and even helped me learn keigo for a business trip.

Yamaguchi-sensei is knowledgeable about the nuances of Japanese vocabulary and grammar and has always been able to clearly answer everything I've asked her in ways that a dictionary can't (What's the difference between にしては and とはいえ? When do you say 精神 and when do you use 性格?).

I also appreciate that Yamaguchi-sensei quickly and gently corrects my mistakes in pronunciation and speaking. It's been extremely valuable to be able to count on Yamaguchi-sensei to help me avoid developing bad habits.

I'd recommend Yamaguchi-sensei to anyone who's looking for a thoughtful and reliable teacher!

Another great lesson with Saeko. She (both consciously and subconsciously) throws in a lot of Japanese phrases in the lesson and then later on adds English if you don't know. Even though I only have about a month of experience with Japanese now I am beginning to understand the basic phrases like "are there any questions" or instructions, which feels very good and is at least in part a testament to Saeko's good teaching!

Saeko is definitely a believer in immersion and that also means she is up-to-date with language learning theory, which in combination with her profound knowledge on technical aspects like pitch accent which I don't think many Japanese speakers even know about consciously, makes her a great teacher.

Maybe this review is starting to sound like an advertisement that you see under every iTalki teacher, but I would sincerely recommend this teacher for folks with a more technical background in linguistics, as she is able to use this to make Japanese easier. She is great!

I just had my trial lesson and I am amazed.

Saeko is a very bubbly person for sure. There was quite some laughter during the lesson. She asked for my goals and made sure to set up a plan, but involved me every step of the way and listened to my input. This is surely a very good sign.

Another point that deserves merit is that Saeko is clearly aware of how language works. She is broadly educated (she was able to understand my reference to German in the pronunciation of u, and I saw her use an IPA sign when explaining ん). Furthermore, she is also indeed familiar with pitch accent and how it works, which was one of the main reasons I booked a lesson with her. I struggled with Japanese う and ん, but she swiftly explained how to pronounce them and I got very close even on the first try already. She was able to describe the placement of the tongue in effective detail.

I am curious to see how Saeko will teach the language itself, but after this encounter it must be good. Would recommend!

I really appreciate that 山口先生 easily adapts to changing circumstances and makes sure that any class is both enjoyable and informative.

I didn't have enough time to properly prepare a talk about eating traditions in my home country. So, we went together through the sentences I came up with. 山口先生 corrected the errors that I made and helped me choose more suitable words and phrases. After each sentence, she also asked me for the details and some explanations to make it seem more like a discussion.

We also returned to my request from last class and did a revision on some verbs that I had trouble remembering, which I also greatly appreciate.

Thank you, 山口先生!

Saeko Yamaguchi is definitely one of the best teachers I have had the pleasure of taking lessons with on iTalki. She is clearly experienced and has the knowledge, but manages to create a perfect balance between formality and casualty.

During the lessons I did not feel afraid to make mistakes and she often gives you the opportunity to find mistakes yourself (but she will give a cue that you made a mistake in a non-disruptive way, which is awesome!), so this definitely helps as well.

In addition, she also felt okay with answering my questions after the lesson time had strictly ended, which was a very kind gesture!

I'd like to thank 山口先生 once more for being such a great teacher. She always spots when I have difficulties and finds an appropriate way to help. For example, I was mixing ways of offering/asking for help and suggesting doing something, and she made a little table for me, so that I can compare the constructions. I also struggle quite a lot with words that use onyomi readings. In such cases, she shows me what kanji the word consists of. I have recently reached my first milestone - finishing my first set of まるごと series. I must admit that Japanese is way harder than any other language that I have learned before. There were moments of frustration when I struggled with the word order, not being able to remember certain words time after time and feeling like I make mistakes in about half of the words and grammar constructions.

However, at this point, after 20 classes, I feel huge improvements comparing to myself just a month ago. I can produce way longer sentences. I don't have to concentrate on every single marker and word - more things are happening automatically. I feel way more comfortable with new vocab and grammar structures because they are built around things that I already know.

I just had my first lesson with Saeko sensei and am looking forward to my next one! Saeko sensei was very prepared and provided clear guidance and explanations. I'm a complete beginner to Japanese but felt like I really got a lot of good feedback and practice with pronunciation/speaking.

I had a wonderful lesson with Saeko-sensei after a 2 month break. I requested a lesson on ageru, kureru, and morau as I've always had difficulties using them. We went through drills using each of the verbs until I could use them seamlessly. I also learned a ton of new vocabulary for family members that I did not learn from textbooks.

At the end of class, we practiced pitch accent based on my previous lessons. I really appreciate the continuity Saeko-sensei provides as it helps me see my progress. I highly recommend taking lessons with Saeko-sensei! I'm super glad I don't need to keep looking for a teacher as she fits all my needs!

Saeko is a fantastic teacher! So patient and prepared, lessons are clear and structured with a lot of time for speaking and listening practice. I really appreciate the practice with pitch accent as part of our lesson. It has helped in making my pronunciation clearer already.

Saeko is great at listening, giving clear feedback and making natural conversation. I appreciate how much time Saeko gives to let me practice and ask pattern and new vocabulary. I had a lot of chances to practice my Japanese.

I'm very satisfied with my progress. Although, I'm making quite a few errors, I feel that I'm becoming more confident in my speech.

I really like that 山口先生 can explain material so that it's clear for my current level. It's just right for me to be comfortable with new grammar/vocab and not too much so I don't get lost.

Looking forward for more classes.

I am so happy I found Yamaguchi-sensei. Where as other teachers have rarely if ever corrected my pronunciation, Yamaguchi-sensei always makes it a point to correct my mistakes with pronunciation and pitch accent so I can sound more natural and be understood more clearly.

Had my first lesson with Yamaguchi sensei. I was super nervous, as I haven't been learning Japanese for a very long time. We did introductions and I learned a bit of pitch accent. She was very patient with me and helped me during the lesson. I think I will be able to learn a lot from her and finally be able to stick with and overcome some of the challenges I had when studying on my own. I want to be able to set a good foundation and get into the habit of speaking early. I think this may be a good start.

I had a great first lesson with Saeko-sensei. I took her pitch/accnt class to help work on annunciating high - low pitches. Saeko-sensei was prepared with example words and helped correct my pitch accent. I felt her method was effective in helping me notice where I made mistakes. Her explanations and drawn diagrams are clear. I really appreciate that she takes photos and sends them after class.

I look forward to taking more pitch and conversation classes in the future!
