What is UC Client?

UbiLynx UC Client is a Unified Communications solution that combines calling, chat, meetings, voicemail, video, screen sharing and enterprise contacts into a single, easy-to-

What UC Client does:

UC Client makes your communication simpler and your collaboration more productive. It provides you with audio and video calling, instant messaging, meetings/ video chat, history, and voicemail without switching between devices, apps, and screens. UbiLynx UC Client allows you to make and take calls without being tied to your desk phone, to chat (one-to-one or one-to-many), and meet with or see each other's faces with the click of a button—all this without using multiple tools or programs.

Any business with modern communications needs can benefit from UC Client, from highly virtualized organizations, companies with multiple locations, to those with remote or mobile workers. UbiLynx UC Client empowers businesses by making it easy, pleasant and efficient for them to communicate how they want and where they want.

Why should you use UC Client?

For any business to be successful, its employees need to be able to communicate. More than that, they need to do so simply and efficiently. Clunky communication wastes time, results in duplication of effort, frustrates people, and slows down the entire business. UC Client removes the frustration from using multiple programs of communication and collaboration. It simplifies the day-to-day tasks and operations organizations rely on for their success.

Designed to enhance the end user's experience by eliminating communication inefficiencies, UbiLynx UC clears roadblocks that slow down a business and enables all users within an organization to perform as high functioning team members.
