

JOKAY

Jokay (real name Sakhiwo Ndlame) is a rising South African recording artist from the Eastern Cape, currently based in Durban. His music reflects the sound, energy, and emotional depth of modern African youth culture, blending Hip-Hop, Afrobeat, Afropop, and Urban African influences into a style that is both street-rooted and commercially appealing.

Growing up in a community where music was a powerful form of storytelling, Jokay learned early how to translate everyday experiences into song. His lyrics explore love, ambition, loyalty, struggle, and celebration — themes that resonate strongly with young African audiences. Now operating from Durban, one of South Africa's most vibrant creative hubs, Jokay is sharpening his sound and expanding his reach.
