From the Minister's Desk . . .

The Lenten book study of *Bless, Break, Share will take place every Sunday of Lent beginning on the 22nd of February. We will gather 20 minutes after worship concludes, so that we can enjoy some fellowship time together in the hall. Then those who are participating in the book study can gather for conversation, prayer, and snacks around the daily practices and contemplations that we experienced that week with the book.

There will also be a spiritual practice experience I'll be sharing with the community of faith in Feb/March. It will take place likely Tuesday or Thursday afternoon for four weeks. We will be exploring together the Ignatius Examen, a wonderful way of contemplating prayerfully about your day, either alone or with a group, to reflect where you felt God in your day. It is my hope that having the Lenten study on Sunday and a spiritual practice during the week will allow for people to attend at least one of the experiences.

The Agassiz Harrison Ministerial Association is planning the annual "Lenten Soup and Buns" on Wednesdays at All Saints Anglican church. Each evening, a short time of worship will be followed by the opportunity to break bread with friends and neighbours from local churches. Dates and further details will follow.
