One Page Capability Statement

“Leadership That Drives Impact”

About Us

D2G (Diamond Dingle Group) is a veteran- and minority-owned leadership consultancy founded by Lieutenant General (Ret.) R. Scott Dingle, the 45th Surgeon General of the U.S. Army, and Command Sergeant Major (Ret.) Diamond D. Hough, the 20th Command Sergeant Major of the U.S. Army Medical Command. As decorated military leaders, they now bring their operational expertise, strategic insight, and people-first mindset to empower clients in the medical, defense, and corporate sectors. D2G offers consulting, mentoring, and strategic innovation services designed to develop leaders, build synergistic teams, and elevate organizational performance. We specialize in leadership development, team building, emotional intelligence-based consulting, crisis management, and impactful keynote engagements—including LTG(R) Dingle’s TEDx talk on leadership in times of crisis.

Our vision is to provide transformational and human-centered consulting that strengthens organizational climate, fosters trust, and delivers measurable outcomes with integrity, transparency, and collaboration.

Core Competencies

Leadership Development & Executive Coaching

- Interactive, values-driven training and mentoring tailored to strategic-level leaders, mid-tier managers, and emerging talent

Strategic Innovation & Advisory Services

- Consultation that addresses complex organizational challenges with systems thinking and emotional intelligence

Organizational Culture & Team Synergy

- Development of inclusive, trust-based environments through facilitated retreats, team alignment sessions, and DEIB frameworks

Crisis Leadership & Operational Readiness

- Guidance in navigating uncertainty and stress-tested environments—rooted in battlefield-tested decision-making
