Patricia is the founder of Pleasurelit®, a tantric somatic embodiment approach that supports high-functioning women to expand their capacity for pleasure, so they can live, lead, and relate from within their body — without paying for it with burnout, disconnection, or self-betrayal.

She is a mother, solopreneur, bestselling author of The Pleasurelit Way, an award-winning educator in pleasure-based embodiment, and the host of Pleasurelit with Patricia. Patricia works with women who lead, create, care, provide, and hold a lot. On the outside they might function well; on the inside, they may feel tense, disconnected, on autopilot, or constantly “on.” Through courses, facilitated spaces, and containers, she supports women to expand their capacity to feel, receive, and stay present—without collapsing, numbing, or losing authority.

As this capacity grows, women make embodied decisions, deepen relationships, and create sustainable success and wealth without sacrificing their bodies. Life reorganises around the body rather than at its expense.

Grounded in nervous system regulation, breath, movement, tantra, somatics, sexuality, holistic health, and embodiment, Pleasurelit become lit from within the body and not something reserved for rest, intimacy, or escape.

Workshops

Bring Pleasurelit® Into Your Space

I offer embodied workshops and intimate group experiences grounded in Pleasurelit® Embodiment. This work is designed primarily for high functioning women who carry responsibility and want to live, work, and relate from a body that feels resourced rather than overridden.

These sessions are experiential, practical, and body-led. They meet women in the reality of their lives, businesses, leadership, and relationships, and support pleasure as a sustainable capacity rather than an occasional escape.

I work in workplaces, studios, community spaces, and private settings. Workshops are available in person or online, and are offered weekday, school-hour friendly.

Core Workshop

Pleasurelit® Embodiment

Pleasurelit® Embodiment is the foundation of my work.

This workshop supports high functioning women to expand their capacity for pleasure, love, and wealth, so life, work, and responsibility no longer come at the cost of the body.

Participants explore pleasure as a lived, embodied capacity rather than something to earn, delay, or override. The work supports staying present with nourishment, softening chronic effort, and interrupting patterns of functioning on autopilot or disconnecting internally.

This workshop supports regulation, steadiness, and embodied presence within full lives and ongoing responsibility.

Common focus areas include:

- pleasure as capacity and energy, not reward
- nervous system regulation in real life
- staying present with pleasure under pressure
- embodied boundaries and pacing
- pleasure in work, money, and visibility
- pleasure in life, motherhood, connection and relationships

Common outcomes people report:

- more aliveness and sensation
- deeper self-trust and self-connection
- guilt-free rest and nourishment
- greater steadiness under responsibility
- more ease with success, money, and visibility
- a regulated nervous system that can hold more aliveness

Suitable for:

Women's leadership spaces, founders and teams, educators, mothers' groups, carers, and wellbeing or community spaces. Mixed-gender groups are considered where the orientation of the work remains women-centred

Workshops

Intimate & Private Offerings

Sacred Pleasure & Embodied Intimacy

These are intentionally smaller, slower, and more personal group experiences held in private homes or selected spaces.

They offer deeper exploration of embodiment, pleasure, and connection in a carefully facilitated and contained setting. Depending on the group's intention, experiences may include somatic and sensual embodiment practices, breath, guided exploration, and tantra-informed work. Touch-based practices are included only where appropriate, always held with clear consent, choice, and pacing.

These spaces are relational, body-led, and trauma-aware.

Offerings can be curated for:

- women-only circles
- couples and partners
- private groups seeking depth and intimacy

All experiences are held with strong boundaries, consent clarity, and nervous system safety.

Session Length & Format

Workshops are offered in person or online via Zoom.

Sessions typically run for 90 minutes to 3 hours, depending on the group, setting, and intention.

In-person workshops are held onsite at workplaces, studios, community spaces, or private homes.

Online workshops are facilitated live via Zoom and available internationally.

All sessions are offered on weekdays and during school hours.

Investment

Workshops are offered at a base rate per session.

Investment varies depending on format, length, and location.

In-person workshops may include additional travel costs for locations beyond a set distance.

Patricia is located at the Sunshine Coast, QLD, Australia.
