

HelpHER - The UpWholeStory

Each year, countless Fabric Swatch/catalogues books containing (upholstery and curtain sample material) are discarded by showrooms once they become obsolete, contributing to textile waste that often ends up in landfills. But what if these high-quality fabrics could be transformed instead of wasted?

HelpHER Bags is a heartfelt initiative that was launched on 18th July 2018 in Chennai by the EcoKonnectors Trust. The fabric materials are extracted from the swatch book and upcycled into exquisite, one-of-a-kind bags, crafted by Self-Help groups and individual women supported by the trust. By repurposing discarded swatches, we prevent waste while empowering skilled women artisans with meaningful livelihoods.

When you choose a HelpHER Bag, you make a difference. With every purchase, you support the woman who stitched it, uplift her journey toward financial independence, and take a step toward a greener planet.

Each bag replaces plastic alternatives, keeping fabric waste out of dumps and weaving a story of sustainability, empowerment, and purpose. These bags are sold at zero profit, because every stitch is a commitment to change.

The primary aim of the trust is to save wastage of fabric therefore dimensions are subject to mild variations in each lot based on the upholstery catalogue size.

Carry HelpHER Bags with pride—because every thread holds the spirit of transformation and empowerment of a needy woman.

When you Buy a HelpHER Bag
You Save HER - The Mother Earth from plastic bags.
And You Help HER - The Self-Help Group Woman who made it.
