ABOUT THE BOOK

From poverty's grip to unshakable resilience, Horatio Jefferson will redefine success.

On the unforgiving streets of South Chicago, Horatio Alger Jefferson was born into a world of struggle and survival. Raised by his fiercely determined mother, Emily, Horatio learned the values of hard work, faith, and perseverance. With a name inspired by tales of rags-to-riches, Horatio's own journey mirrors the dreams his mother envisioned despite every hurdle life threw their way.

From a humble janitor to a man destined for greatness, Horatio's story is one of love, sacrifice, and unyielding ambition. Guided by his steadfast relationship with Melody, the woman who captures his heart, and bolstered by the values instilled by his community, Horatio learns that wealth isn't just a matter of dollars—it's also measured in love, community, and purpose.

Perfect for readers who crave inspiring tales of personal growth and unwavering determination, Millionaire Janitor will leave you reflecting on life's true riches.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

As with his characters, Lorn's life has been shaped by loving parents and a lifetime of learning experiences. Starting out life on a farm, then working as a baker, janitor, and maintenance man in college, he went on to attain a BSc and MSc, all of which led him to a career in research and development with an international chemical corporation. Not only did he serve as a public-school trustee, but he also found it a satisfying accomplishment to serve on the governing board of a small university. Returning to his roots, Lorn ran the family farm for 23 years while finding time to teach college courses to indigenous students in Myanmar and help run a web conferencing company. A lifetime sports enthusiast and organizer, Lorn now enjoys working with authors to edit their books while sharing his insights through his own writing and working with the Free Enterprise Warriors organization. His lovely wife and best friend, Laura, embrace every moment with joy and gratitude as they split their time between South Padre Island, Texas, and southern Manitoba, Canada.
