

Editing /Spelling Ex 1

Middle Primary Beginner English

Correct the word in bold for spelling and each underlined word for grammar. Write the correct word in the boxes provided.

Many people think that dolphins are fishes because they look like a fish.

Another reason is because they are marin animals.

However, in aktual fact, dolphins are mammals, just like us.

Like us, dolphins have an pair of lungs. The difference among us and dolphins is that we breathe through our nostrils while dolphins breathe through a blowhole on the top of their heads. Unlike fishes, dolphins do not posess gills.

Fortunately, dolphins can hold its breath for up to fifteen minutes. This gives them suficient time to dive deep into the sea to feed on fish and other marine animals.

Unlike most wild animals, dolphins are rather friendly cretures

. They often swim near boats, display no fear of fishermen. Unfortunately, this is also part of the reason for the deaths of dolphins - they get catch in fishing nets.

Today, many countries are working together to preserve these beautiful mammals.

Editing /Spelling Ex 1 - Solutions

Middle Primary Beginner English

Correct the word in bold for spelling and each underlined word for grammar. Write the correct word in the boxes provided.

Many people think that dolphins are fishes because they look like a fish.

Another reason is because they are marin marine animals.

However, in aktual actual fact, dolphins are mammals, just like us.

Like us, dolphins have an a pair of lungs. The difference among amongst us and dolphins is that we breathe through our nostrils while dolphins breathe through a blowhole on the top of their heads. Unlike fishes, dolphins do not posess possess gills.

Fortunately, dolphins can hold its it's breath for up to fifteen minutes. This gives them suficient sufficient time to dive deep into the sea to feed on fish and other marine animals.

Unlike most wild animals, dolphins are rather friendly cretures

creatures . They often swim near boats, display displaying no fear of fishermen. Unfortunately, this is also part of the reason for the deaths of dolphins - they get catch caught in fishing nets.

Today, many countries are working together to preserve these beautiful mammals.