The background of the image is a warm orange color with a visible wood-grain texture. Overlaid on this are numerous black and teal-colored rectangles of varying sizes and orientations. Some rectangles are solid black, while others contain a lighter teal or blue-grey color. They appear to be scattered across the frame, creating a sense of depth and abstract design.

The background of the image is a close-up, high-resolution photograph of a surface covered in a dense, irregular pattern of reddish-orange rust. Several dark, circular rivets or bolts are visible, arranged in two distinct vertical rows along the right side of the frame. These rivets have a textured, metallic appearance with some wear and discoloration.
