“Working with Timofey is always a pleasure. He’s a highly skilled producer who continues to play an important role in my studio productions.” – David Guetta

Born in Saratov, Russia, Timofey Reznikov played jazz trumpet at college before moving to Belgium where he studied piano and electro-acoustic music at Conservatoire Royal de Mons. Inspired by UK garage, he began using software samplers to create his own sound, uploading tracks to Beatport. A talented sound designer, Reznnikov garnered huge attention for the incredible accuracy of his track reactions, notably Deadmau 5’s Ghosts N Stuff.

In 2010, Reznikov became a touring DJ and began creating sound design templates while embarking on production work for EDM legend Dimitri Vegas and American rapper Gucci Mane. Several years later on a trip to Los Angeles, Reznikov demoed his work to iconic French DJ/producer David Guetta.

Within days he was invited to Guetta's studio to begin co-writing/producing his chart-topping Billboard album 7, including the hit single Don't Leave Me Alone.

Reznikov has also worked on Guetta's alter-ego project Jack Back, notably including the singles (It Happens) Sometimes and Survivor and composed Belgian dance/EDM star Regi's double platinum-selling track Kom Wat Dichterbij and three platinum-selling singles, Where Did You Go (Summer Love), Ellie, and Ordinary.

"Timo is an exceptional producer and sound designer. Together, we wrote several #1 singles and, best of all, he's a great person and friend." - Regi

In March 2019, Reznikov worked as part of the music production team on Nike's FIFA Women reveal in Paris and, more recently, the Olympics 2020 reveal show in NYC. He is also supervisor and co-owner of Abletunes (<https://abletunes.com>), a music project and sample pack website specialising in creating premium Ableton® Live™ templates to help novice and experienced musicians to learn music production and discover something new.

With a fully kitted, state-of-the-art studio based in his beautiful hometown of Altea, Costa Blanca, Spain, Reznikov is not just a hugely talented sound designer, but has evolved to become a much sought-after producer with deep expertise and a track record of delivering results for key names in the music industry.
