

Where Should I Go for Everything?

Psalm 23

I need food, so He leads me into green pastures.

I need water, so He leads me beside quiet waters.

My soul is weak and weary and without strength, so He restores my soul.

I'm lost and don't know the way I should go; I don't know how to chart the course of my life, so He guides me in the path of righteousness.

I have to face the reality of death, but He leads me through the valley of the shadow of death without fear.

I am so often distressed and in upheaval, but His rod and His staff, they comfort me.

I am concerned about those around me who are hostile, but He prepares a table for me in the presence of my enemies.

I need healing, but He anoints my head with oil.

It's a long life, and I want the best of it, so He provides goodness and mercy to follow me all the days of my life.

I desperately want hope after death. And so, He gives me the promise that, because He's my Shepherd, He'll take me to dwell in His house forever.

So, where do I go for everything?

I go to my Shepherd!

To learn more, visit: Whatever Happened to the Holy Spirit?

The Truth in Love,

Mark Paul