APPELLANT’S MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

Lakievia Johnson, MBA, PMP, CSPO

COUNSEL FOR APPELLANT

Comes now, Lakievia Johnson, Appellant, and moves this Court to reconsider its opinion partially affirming the trial court's decision in this matter. Under Rule 37 (e) of the Rules of the Court of Appeals of Georgia, Ms. Johnson respectfully submits that this Court, in rendering its opinion partially affirming the decision of the trial court, (1) has erroneously construed or misapplied a provision of law or controlling authority including (a) OCGA §§ 19-9-6 (5), 19-9-1 (a), and 19-9-3; and (2) has overlooked the following material facts in the record including (a) Ms. Johnson's objection to the trial court's initial claim that there wasn't a material change prompting the change in visitation, (b) the mother's appearance in court as evidence of a bond with her children, (c) the relevant evidence supporting Ms. Johnson's allegations of habitual abuse from both of the Appellees, Jeremy Curd and Elaine Smart, and (d) the amount of time allowed for phone calls; and (3) this Court did not make a decision which is controlling as authority concerning Ms. Johnson's request for reimbursement of court fees and expenses which should be awarded to Ms. Johnson pursuant to OCGA §§ 9-15-14 and 19-9-3 (g). For the reasons more fully set forth in the attached Brief in Support of this Motion for Reconsideration, Ms. Johnson respectfully requests that this Court inquire into and reconsider its opinion partially affirming the trial court's decision.

Respectfully submitted this the 16th day of January, 2025.

This submission does not exceed the word count limit imposed by Rule 24.
