At DesigningForAdaptability.com, accessibility and inclusion are at the core of everything we do. Our website exists to support individuals, families, designers, and caregivers in creating home and work environments that are not only functional and safe-but beautiful, empowering, and respectful of everyone's needs.

We are committed to ensuring that our website is accessible to people of all abilities, including individuals who use assistive technologies such as screen readers, keyboard navigation, or voice control software.

What We're Doing

To help make our website as accessible as possible, we are actively working toward:

- Following Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.1, Level AA standards

- Ensuring all images include descriptive alternative text

- Maintaining high-contrast design for readability

- Using clear, simple language throughout our site

- Designing a mobile-responsive experience across devices

- Supporting keyboard navigation and logical tab ordering

- Avoiding flashing or visually disruptive animations

- Ensuring links and buttons are clearly labeled and easy to identify

We regularly audit the website using automated tools and manual testing and are committed to continuous improvement as technology and best practices evolve.

Accessibility Features

Our website may include features such as:

- Adjustable text size (via browser settings)

- Logical page structure and heading hierarchy

- Alt text for all meaningful imagery

- Accessible contact forms

- Descriptive link names (avoiding vague text like "click here")

Ongoing Commitment
Designing for Adaptability is not just a philosophy-it's a promise. As we grow, we remain dedicated to creating a digital environment that reflects the same inclusive and respectful principles we bring to physical spaces.

Whether you are aging in place, living with a disability, designing for a loved one, or simply planning ahead-we believe everyone deserves a space (and a website) designed without limits.
