Premier Polyamory Events

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Largest Polyamory Event in North America Blossoms in Seattle

Evergreen Hearts Foundation presents the world's largest educational event for people practicing or exploring non-monogamy

Seattle, WA - June 27, 2025 - For many folks who practice non-monogamy, it can be difficult to find resources and support which properly addresses the intricacies of the experience. While books and podcasts provide generalized concepts and discussion, and dating apps can lead to new connections, specialized support sources feel far and few between.

Evergreen Hearts Foundation (EHF) is seeking to change that. The non-profit, founded in 2023, takes a different approach to uplifting those practicing and exploring polyamory. From their website, Evergreen Hearts Foundation “[produces] large-scale educational events featuring expert speakers and curated programs on relationship dynamics, emotional growth, and effective communication.”

EHF produces a wide range of events including the largest Polyamory Expo in the world, a black tie formal Polyamory Prom, and even a Polyamory Talk Series. From talks on calendar planning to uncovering core relationship values and even co-owning property among multiple partners, the non-profit platforms a vast array of professionals providing critical information. Attendees left each event with the knowledge and support necessary to navigate the nuances of interpersonal relationships while remaining true to their own identity.

On July 12, the non-profit will be producing Polyamory Expo, “the leading non-monogamy convention”. Hosted at the DoubleTree Suites Hilton - Southcenter, this event is expected to bring record crowds together under one roof where they can connect with an even larger network of professionals and service providers who understand the intricacies of non-monogamous relations.

Attendees of the Polyamory Expo will congregate at the best place in the world to meet other polyamorous people. The exhibition hall will provide them with direct access to professionals and experts, while Interactive Exhibits and Identity Meetups will foster new connections. At the mainstage, attendees will have the chance to share their own experiences at the Storytelling Open Mic and have access to a newcomers series of presentations on newcomer friendly topics.

The Polyamory Expo will also feature an expansive agenda curated for attendees wanting more. Those who purchase the Conference & Expo Pass will have the chance to attend a larger slate of talks focused on therapy, communication, legal, healthcare, housing, and financial planning through the lens of polyamory. Additional information about the Expo and other upcoming events can be found on EvergreenHearts.org.

Whether you've been practicing polyamory or non-monogamy for years already, or are just starting to explore the ever expansive bounds of the love you have to share, the Polyamory Expo is guaranteed to provide the connection and support you're looking for. Tickets are on sale now on EvergreenHearts.org.
