I'm a full-time remote freelancer from California specializing in Adobe InDesign production work. I have extensive experience working with fast-paced, high-output graphic departments and advertising agencies. To watch my intro video, see a list of my past clients, and view examples of my work, please visit my portfolio link above.

WORK AVAILABILITY

Monday – Friday; 5 AM to 5 PM (PST)

I work from my home office. If you let me know in advance, I can also be available outside my usual hours or on weekends.

HOURLY BILLING

I work exclusively on hourly projects. Upwork allows us to set a weekly cap on billable hours, starting at five hours. This cap ensures I cannot exceed the agreed limit without your approval. If you feel the value provided does not match the hours billed, you may close the contract at any time.

TURN AROUND TIME

Depending on my workload, there might be up to a 24-hour gap between revisions. If I can't get you a new revision within 24 hours, I will update you on the project's progress.

COMMUNICATIONS

Initial communications will be handled through Upwork's messaging system. After we sign a contract on Upwork, I'm happy to use your preferred tools, like email, Slack, or Teams. We can also schedule video calls to discuss your project.

RETAINER

With my retainer option, you pay a weekly minimum for a set number of hours, and during that time, I will work only on your company's projects. This helps make sure I am available for your work every week.

RESERVING TIME

If you need me to be available for a specific deadline, you can reserve my time so your project comes first. Contact me for more information.

"Working with Patrick was truly an excellent experience! He is a clear communicator, timely, detail oriented and produced exactly what we needed. We will definitely hire him again in the future."

"Patrick is a valuable extension of our team. He executes tasks flawlessly, and his attention to detail is excellent. He communicates with us at every stage of the process and keeps us informed about any challenges that may arise."
