ABOUT COLITHA

Colitha Bush is a mother of nine, author, advocate, public speaker, and entrepreneur from Port Arthur, Texas. She spent twenty years in a relationship that cost her everything — her freedom, her children's childhoods, and the version of herself she had been before the world got its hands on her.

She came out the other side not broken but clarified, and she started talking about it on TikTok where her series Married to a FBI Informant reached hundreds of thousands of followers who recognized themselves in her story. She is the founder of Unchained Voices and the author of her debut memoir The Informant's Wife: A Memoir of Love & Lies — the full truth, in her own words, for the first time.

ABOUT THE BOOK

The Informant's Wife: A Memoir of Love and Lies is the debut memoir of Colitha Bush — published June 1, 2026, by Ink & Legacy Publishing. It is the story of a Port Arthur girl who said yes to the wrong man at sixteen and spent the next twenty years inside a love that was consuming, chaotic, and ultimately catastrophic. From a drug operation she never fully understood to a four-million-dollar federal fraud scheme to a federal prison sentence, this book tells who she was before him, who she became with him, and who she chose to be when it was over. Book One of Two.
