

Project Support Services

Practical operational support for mobilisation, field activity and project delivery

SERVICE OVERVIEW

TBS provides practical project support for clients mobilising, delivering or managing activity in Libya. Projects here often need a wide range of support functions, including movement coordination, supplier liaison, procurement assistance, equipment movement, site access, field coordination and local issue resolution. TBS helps clients manage these requirements through reliable in-country support and structured coordination. The service works for short-term tasks, technical visits, project start-up, field activity, contractor mobilisation or longer-term operational requirements.

HOW WE DELIVER

Project support begins with a clear understanding of the project objective, location, schedule, stakeholders, risk profile and operational dependencies. TBS works with the client to identify what needs to happen before mobilisation, what needs managing during delivery and what reporting or follow-up is required. Support is then built into a practical plan covering movement, suppliers, equipment, site access, liaison, field coordination and communication. Where required, TBS provides embedded local coordination to keep momentum and resolve issues quickly.

WHEN CLIENTS ENGAGE TBS

Clients typically engage TBS for:

- Mobilising personnel, contractors or equipment into Libya
- Planning field visits, technical inspections or site surveys
- Managing suppliers, vendors or local service providers

- Coordinating activity across multiple locations
- Delivering projects that need dependable local follow-up

WHAT THIS MEANS IN PRACTICE

- Project mobilisation and start-up support
- Field visit and technical inspection coordination
- Procurement, supplier and vendor support
- Equipment and material movement coordination
- Site access, local liaison and stakeholder follow-up
- Operational reporting, issue tracking and escalation support

WHY TBS

TBS helps clients reduce friction, improve coordination and keep operational momentum. Its local presence means practical issues are spotted early, followed up directly and resolved with a clear understanding of the environment. Combining Libyan ground knowledge with international standards of communication, accountability and planning, TBS gives project teams reliable local support for activity that is hard to manage from outside the country.
