Professional security support for clients operating across Libya

SERVICE OVERVIEW

TBS provides practical, professionally managed security support for clients operating across Libya, including corporate visitors, project teams, commercial facilities, field operations and international organisations. Security in Libya needs to be proportionate to the task, professionally managed and supported by reliable local coordination. TBS works with the client to understand their profile, locations, schedules, movement requirements and risk exposure, then builds a support model that fits the activity. Support can include site security coordination, mobile security support, visitor protection, access control, secure movement planning, security operating procedures and incident escalation. The aim is to reduce the client's exposure and keep their activity running safely.

HOW WE DELIVER

Security support begins with practical planning. TBS reviews the client's activity, operating locations, daily routines and points of exposure, then designs measures appropriate to the environment and the level of risk. Delivery runs through local coordination, selected personnel, clear procedures and regular communication with the client. Protective measures are adjusted as conditions, schedules or requirements change, so that security supports the operation and adds as little disruption as possible.

WHEN CLIENTS ENGAGE TBS

Clients typically engage TBS for:

- Corporate visits and executive or team travel
- Project sites, offices, warehouses and operating locations
- Short-term visitor support or longer-term site requirements
- Activity that needs access control, protective measures or escalation support

WHAT THIS MEANS IN PRACTICE

- Security arrangements matched to the client's activity and risk profile
- Static, mobile and site support coordinated through one managed plan
- Personnel and procedures aligned with professional standards and client expectations
- Access, movement and incident escalation managed through clear communication
- Support that stays practical, proportionate and fitted to the operation

WHY TBS

As a Libyan company working to international standards, TBS combines local knowledge with the discipline and reliability international organisations expect. The company understands the realities of working in Libya, including access, movement constraints, security considerations and local liaison across different regions and authorities. TBS keeps planning, communication and reporting practical, so clients retain oversight and a clear point of contact while TBS coordinates day-to-day delivery on the ground, from first arrival through to the close of the activity, adjusting the support as conditions and requirements change.
