

Google Meet — Review

Free video calls for Android and computer users

Overall Rating: /5 — ★★★★★

softwareforseniors.co.uk

Our Verdict

Google Meet is a reliable, straightforward video calling app that is particularly well suited to Android phone users and anyone who already uses Gmail. One-to-one calls have no time limit, it works in any web browser without downloading anything, and if you already have a Google account you are ready to go immediately.

■ What We Like

- ✓ No time limit on one-to-one calls — chat as long as you like
- ✓ Already connected to Gmail — start calls from your inbox
- ✓ No download needed on a computer — works in any browser
- ✓ Works on Android, iPhone and computers
- ✓ Clean and simple interface with fewer buttons than Zoom

■ What We Don't Like

- ✗ Requires a Google account to start a call
- ✗ Less well known than WhatsApp or FaceTime
- ✗ Group calls limited to 60 minutes on the free plan

Who is This App Best For?

- ✓ You have an Android phone
- ✓ You already use Gmail regularly
- ✓ You want unlimited time on one-to-one calls
- ✓ You prefer to use a computer for video calls

Our Rating Breakdown

Category	Rating
Ease of use

Call quality	★★★★
Features	★★★★
Value for money	★★★★
Suitable for seniors	★★★★

Final Verdict: Google Meet is an excellent choice for Android users and Gmail users. No time limit on one-to-one calls is a genuine advantage over Zoom. It loses a star only because it is less universally known than WhatsApp or FaceTime.